ORGANTO CORPORATE POLICIES

Code of Business Conduct and Ethics

INTRODUCTION

Organto Foods Inc. (“Organto” or “the Company”) and its affiliated companies conduct its business in accordance with the spirit, as well as the letter of the law. We believe in and adhere to the highest standards of ethical conduct in all our operations. As an officer, employee, director or contractor, you are expected to perform your duties, not only in compliance with the law, but in accordance with these ethical standards as well.

PURPOSE

This policy is established to set forth the standards that govern all officers, employees, directors and contractors in the performance of their duties on behalf of Organto, and, where applicable, in their involvement in outside business activities.

Senior leadership has the primary responsibility for setting the standard for ethical conduct through the implementation of appropriate policies and by personal example. By accepting to work or provide services to Organto, you confirm your acceptance of the obligation to carefully observe these standards of conduct.

In all decisions you make affecting our business, you must consider what is right for the Company as a whole and ask yourself how your contemplated action would appear if all the facts, interests and motives were made public. In business, as in life, the hard question sometimes is not "what must I do," but "what must I refuse to do."

It is not possible to present a comprehensive list of every activity that might give rise to an ethical or legal dilemma. Instead, we seek to address those potentially compromising situations that arise with the greatest frequency in the business world.

SCOPE

- a) Each officer, employee, director and contractor shall be furnished a copy of this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics Policy.
- b) Each officer, employee, director and contractor shall evidence his/her receipt, reading and comprehension of this policy.
- c) Each employment offer letter or contract for services shall include the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics Policy and a certificate or form which must be executed as a part of the acceptance of an employment offer or contract for services agreement.
- d) Any violation of this policy shall be subject to disciplinary action. The specific form of disciplinary action taken shall depend on the nature of the infraction and shall range from a verbal warning through to termination of employment or the contract for services, or criminal prosecution.

- e) All officers, employees and contractors are obligated to report any wrongdoing or violation of this code of conduct or related policies, violation of accounting or internal controls, or any incidents of fraud or alleged fraud in accordance with Organto's Ethics Reporting Policy.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Organto respects your right to privacy in your personal activities and financial affairs. A principal purpose of this policy is to provide guidance to you in avoiding situations which are, or may appear to be, in conflict with your responsibilities to Organto.

It is essential you avoid any situation or interest which might interfere with your judgment with respect to your commitments and responsibilities to Organto. In determining whether a conflict is involved in a given situation, there is no substitute for your sound judgment and personal integrity applied to the particular facts involved. Generally speaking, a conflict of interest exists when an obligation or situation resulting from your personal activities or financial affairs may influence your judgment in the performance of your responsibilities to Organto.

All of our employees, directors and contractors are to conduct Organto's affairs on an "arms' length" basis and not engage in any business or financial activity that may conflict with the interest of Organto. For example, the selection of agents, contractors, distributors, suppliers, consultants and the like on behalf of Organto must be made solely on the basis of their ability to perform the required work competently and at competitive prices.

OUTSIDE FINANCIAL INTERESTS

If you have a financial interest in, are a director of, or perform work for a third party with whom we do business or compete, you must disclose that interest to the Company. Such financial interest in a third party includes stock ownership and any related trusts or estates, but excludes ownership of less than 5% of the third parties stock.

You should also bring to the attention of your immediate supervisor (see Ethics Reporting Policy) any situation in which the financial interest of an immediate family member or close friend could create the appearance of impropriety. Disclosure of these relationships will enable Organto to ensure that no conflict exists and that all dealings are consistent with the intent of this policy.

You are expected to disclose all potential conflicts of interest or confirming none exist by documenting on the signature page of the Corporate Policies.

GIFTS, GRATUITIES, ENTERTAINMENT AND TRAVEL

You must not accept any gift, entertainment or anything else which could be perceived by others to be of such value that it may interfere with your judgment concerning the giver of the gift. Generally, this means that gifts over a value of $250 are inappropriate and receipt of any gift having a value in excess of $100 should be disclosed (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

Officers, employees, directors and contractors traveling or entertaining on Company business are representing Organto and are expected to conduct themselves with dignity and behave ethically at all times. Expenses incurred on business trips or entertaining should be reasonable and consistent with normal living standards. All are expected to manage expenses with proper prudence and financial scrutiny. Those who are in doubt as to the appropriateness of a specific travel or entertainment expense should consult with their immediate supervisor.

OUTSIDE WORK

In addition to potential conflicts of financial interest, a conflict of time interest may exist if you undertake to engage in an independent business venture or to perform work or services for another business or organization to the extent such outside activity impinges on, or conflicts with, your responsibilities to Organto. Any such outside interests must be disclosed (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

IMPROPER PAYMENTS

You may not authorize, make, or participate in, a payment of money or a gift on behalf of Organto of materials, equipment, services, facilities or anything else of value to:

- any domestic or foreign government or governmental agency or official;
- any non-governmental customer or prospective customer; or
- any employee, agent or associate of such a person or entity for the purpose of promoting or retaining business for Organto or inducing the recipient to grant favorable treatment to, or forgo any claim against, Organto.

This does not preclude token gratuities that are consistent with the law and are approved in advance by the CEO or CFO, as appropriate.

CONFIDENTIAL AND PROPRIETARY INFORMATION

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

You must exercise care not to disclose nonpublic information regarding Organto or its operations. Of course, not all confidential information will be designated as such and it need not be in written form to require protection. You must be sensitive to the kinds of information that constitutes Organto's confidential and proprietary information, sometimes referred to as trade secrets. The above examples illustrate the scope of information covered by this policy but are not meant to be all inclusive. If you are uncertain whether something is confidential, you should assume that it is or contact your immediate supervisor for specific advice and clarification.

All officers, employees, directors and contractors must also ensure compliance with company policy and regulatory agency requirements related to access and disclosure of insider information (see Insider Trading and Tipping Policy).

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION OF OTHERS

In addition to protecting our own trade secrets and other confidential and proprietary information, it is our policy and practice to respect the trade secrets of others. This is particularly pertinent if you have knowledge of the trade secrets of a former employer or any customer. You are not to reveal any information that might reasonably be considered a trade secret of a former employer or any customer. Likewise, if you are approached with any offer of confidential information which you believe may have been improperly obtained you should immediately bring this to the attention of your immediate supervisor (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

SOFTWARE PROTECTION

The protection of software is grounded in the long-established copyright rules that govern their use. The unauthorized duplication of software constitutes copyright infringement regardless of whether it is done for sale, for free distribution or for an individual's use. Moreover, those individuals who make the copies are liable for copyright infringement whether or not they knew their conduct violated federal law.

Organto licenses software from a variety of sources. This includes not only operating software programs, but also programs typically used for word processing, spreadsheets and data management. We do not own the packaged software or its related documentation and, unless authorized, do not have the right to copy or reproduce this software or its related documentation.

It is our policy to license a sufficient number of programs to provide for the legitimate needs of all employees. You are not permitted to copy, resell or transfer (in-house or to your home) any software unless authorized under the applicable software license agreement.

Each employee or contractor is responsible to ensure that all software installed on his or her computer is properly licensed for such use and is properly safeguarded.

Severe penalties can be assessed against unauthorized copying or use of computer software.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION OF EMPLOYEES

Just as you are expected to protect Organto's confidential information, Organto will protect your legitimate right to the confidentiality of your employment records. We will provide employee information to third parties only upon written authorization of the employee or as mandated by law.

Finally, Organto expects you to respect the reasonable expectations of privacy of your fellow employees, whether at work or away from the job.

OWNERSHIP OF FILES AND OTHER DOCUMENTS

All documents, encoded media and other tangible items provided to you by Organto or prepared, generated or created by you or others in connection with any business activity of Organto, including but not limited to, files, recordings, electronic data, abstracts, correspondence, notes and reports, whether printed, handwritten or in any other form and including any reproductions or partial copies of any such items are the property of Organto. At any time, at Organto's request, and automatically on termination from employment or contract, you must promptly surrender all Organto documents in your possession. As a guideline, assume that, upon termination of employment or contract, you will surrender any business information that came into your possession and control by any means whatsoever during the course of your employment or contract.

ACCURATE BOOKS, RECORDS AND FINANCIAL REPORTS

Our financial statements and the books and records on which they are based must fairly and accurately report all business transactions and reflect Organto's assets, liabilities and commitments. All reporting of information (e.g. expense reports, invoice transmittals, inventory summaries, etc.) must be accurate, honest and timely and present a fair representation of the facts.

If you have information or knowledge regarding any violation of this policy you should promptly report such matter to the Chair of the Audit Committee or Chair of the Board, as applicable (see Ethics Reporting Policy).

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

We encourage our employees to participate in the political process on their own behalf as they see fit. No employee, however, shall make any contribution of Organto funds, equipment or other assets to any candidate for public office or any political party. Likewise, no money or property may be given to a lobbyist or consultant on behalf of Organto in order to obtain any action on legislation, regulations or other governmental activity without the express authorization of the CEO.

MEDIA RELATIONS

We expect the use of proper, timely media contact by persons authorized to speak officially for the Company. Without prior authorization, such contact is prohibited. Anyone requesting information about Organto should be referred to a member of the Senior Leadership Team (see Communications Policy). Any reference to Organto on social media is prohibited without prior authorization (see Social Media Policy).

SOCIAL MEDIA

Our officers, employees, director and contractors may choose to create or participate in on-line social networks. Any use of such media is expected to comply with this Code of Business Conduct and Ethics. Users are personally responsible for the content they publish and must not discuss confidential Organto information. ANTITRUST AND TRADE REGULATION COMPLIANCE

The policy of Organto absolutely prohibits any consultation with competitors relating to prices or terms and conditions of sale.

DEFINITION OF "MATERIAL NONPUBLIC INFORMATION"

"Material" Information

Information about Organto is "material" if it would be expected to affect the investment or voting decisions of a reasonable shareholder or investor or if the disclosure of the information would be expected to significantly alter the total mix of information available in the marketplace about Organto. In simple terms, material information is any type of information which could reasonably be expected to affect the market price or value of Organto's securities. While it is not possible to identify all information that would be deemed "material," the following types of information ordinarily would be considered material:

- iii. No Insider may “tip” or disclose material nonpublic information concerning Organto to any outside person including household family members, analysts, individual investors and members of the investment community and news media unless required as part of that Insider’s regular duties and authorized by the Compliance Committee and, as deemed necessary, an outside director. In any instance in which such information is disclosed to outsiders, the Company will take such steps as are necessary to preserve the confidentiality of the information including requiring the outsider to agree in writing to comply with the terms of this policy and/or to an agreement. All inquiries from outsiders regarding material nonpublic information about Organto must be forwarded to the Compliance Committee, or their designates.
- iv. No Insider may give trading advice of any kind about Organto to anyone while possessing material nonpublic information about Organto except that, Insiders should advise others not to trade if doing so might violate the law or this policy. (A) Civil and Criminal Penalties

The consequences of prohibited insider trading or tipping can be severe. Persons violating insider trading or tipping rules may be required to disgorge the profit made or the loss avoided by the trading, pay the loss suffered by the person who purchased securities from or sold securities from or sold securities to the insider tipper, pay civil penalties, pay monetary criminal penalties and possible jail terms. trading or tipping, or knows of any such violation by any other Insiders, must report the violation immediately to the Compliance Officer. Upon learning of any such violation, the Compliance Officer, in consultation with the other Compliance Committee member and, if necessary, external legal counsel, will determine whether the Company should release any material nonpublic information, or whether Organto should report the violation to the TSX-V or other appropriate governmental authority.
